DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claim 22 is rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 1 of U.S. Patent No. 6,768,711 in view of Takaku et al. (6,295,267).

Claim 1 of US Patent No. 6,768,711 recite similar limitations as set forth in claim 22 of the current application. However claim 1 of the patent does not recite the serial number being recorded, as required in claim 22 of the current application.

Takaku et al. teaches that it is well know to record various identification information of the disk on the optical disk including manufacturer code and serial number information, in order to identify the disk and facilitate copy protection (see Figs. 1-9, and column 11, lines 50-65).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the information piece of claim 1 of the patent, to include the serial number information as set forth in claim 22 of the current application, in order to further improve copy protection of the disk.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 22-24 are allowed over the prior art of record.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

The prior art or record alone or in combination does not teach or suggest the optical disk and method or recording and reproducing having the combination of elements with their recited structure and process, along with the specific structure and process of recording the information piece which includes the name of the manufacturer of the apparatus and serial number of the apparatus, as set forth in claims 22-24, and as disclosed in the specification.
